- Enrolled full-time or part-time at a Canadian college or university in Fall 2021
- Enrolled in a Canadian high school
- Pursuing a retail, business or marketing/design-related program
- Currently working part-time or full-time within the retail industry

What do applicants need in order to apply?

- 1. Complete the online application and release form – Application form found on RCC's Application Website - <https://RetailCouncilCanada-apply.smapply.io/prog/2021RESP>
- 2. Official transcript from either a high school or post-secondary institution
- 3. A reference letter (200 words max.) from current employer that includes the following:
 - Applicant's demonstrated and continued commitment to the retail industry
 - Ways in which the applicant has distinguished him/herself from other employees
 - Reasons explaining why the applicant is deserving of this scholarship
 - Current employer/supervisor contact information

- 4. The future of the Canadian Shopping Industry:

A typed essay (800- 1000 words max) in PDF or MS Word file format, that will address the following statement:

The harsh reality is that COVID-19 is having an unprecedented impact on our retail stores. Many stores, for example, have already been closed due provincial mandated lock downs, and more will continue to close permanently in the coming days, weeks, and months. The retail landscape has changed. As well, consumer behaviour and attitudes continue to evolve with customers needing to feel safe when they shop. Retailers need to adapt their store operations to fulfill and delight on these heightened consumer expectations to be successful.

With the challenges of today's retailer in mind, write an essay that defines, from your perspective and experience, what a retailer needs to do stay successful during these uncertain times. How will the retailer of the future build on their successes of today and continue to grow their operations during this unprecedented time? And what will be required of them to offer the customer of the future a first-in-class and safe retail experience.

5. Retail Innovation Presentation

Your presentation must include the following:

- Introduce yourself
- Employer: Where do you work and why?
- Retail experience: How has the past year affected your experience in the industry?
- Post-secondary school and program of study: What program will you be taking in September 2021 and why?
- A career in retail: Retail is an industry that offers new challenges and opportunities every day. It is fast and exciting and requires talented individuals to fill a variety of roles, from front-line customer service and store management to data analysis and cyber security. Tell us why you are one of these special professionals.

Presentation Submission Requirements:

- Must introduce yourself including name & current retail position
- Use a combination of videos, text, images and/or animation to address the statement above
- Presentation submission should be between 2-4 minutes in length
- Please have as minimal background noise as possible
- All sources must be cited - No uncopyrighted material (music, images etc.)

Frequently Asked Questions:

How are the applications processed?

- Applications will be reviewed by a panel of retail industry experts.
- Every effort will be made to engage a cross-section of Canadian industry professionals who possess a range of experience in the review process.

When will applicants know if their submission has been successful?

- The review process typically takes about four to six weeks.
- A decision will be made on or around July 15, 2021.

What does the selection process involve?

- Applicants' submissions will be evaluated on the criteria outlined in the "What do applicants need in order to apply?" section.
- We will evaluate to what extent applicants have demonstrated an interest in pursuing a career in retail and what degree of thought they have put into the ways they will make an impact on the retail industry.

Tips for submitting a scholarship application:

1. Please ensure that you meet the outlined requirements.
2. Start the application process early.
3. Take your time writing and developing your scholarship essay and presentation.
4. Reference letters and transcripts take time... plan ahead.
5. Follow the award criteria as closely as possible, as this is what you will be judged on.
6. Think creatively about how you will present your submission.

Preparation:

1. Allow yourself time – ensure that you provide yourself with enough time to prepare your research and thoughts. Providing yourself with at least two weeks will enable you to properly prepare.
2. Read the scholarship topic carefully – ensure that you understand the purpose of the question and the information that it seeks from you.
3. Do your research – combined with your education and intuitional insights concerning the retail industry, do as much research as possible (newspaper and magazine articles, websites, textbooks, etc.) to reinforce the position that you take in your essay and to support your ideas with examples and case studies.
4. Outline your thoughts – it's always a good idea to begin formulating your thoughts by roughly outlining them in a document before you begin writing. Include main points with supporting thoughts, ideas and examples. This will help you determine your flow of information before you begin writing your essay.

Writing the Essay/Presentation:

1. Believe in your response – as soon as you've completed the required research and preparation, ensure that you understand your own position and believe in it. Be sure you have all of your information and ideas formulated with enough supporting information.
2. Understand your audience – when writing your essay/presentation, keep in mind the audience that you're writing for and cater your language and response accordingly.
3. Originality is a must – be sure to answer the question in your own words, leveraging your own thoughts and experiences. The scholarship committee wants to learn about what you have to say about the topic and your related experiences.
4. Lead with a solid introduction – It is imperative to get the reader's attention within the first few lines. Lead with the answer to your essay question, followed by three supporting thoughts/ideas/facts. Leading this way will allow you to properly formulate your response and will also ensure a seamless flow to your essay.
5. Link your information – based on your introduction, ensure that each supporting point is included within the body paragraphs of your essay. Each point put forward that supports your response must be expanded upon and explained concisely within the essay.
6. Avoid plagiarism – based on your independent research and ideas, ensure that your essay is written using your own thoughts, ideas in your own words.
7. Ensure a strong conclusion – be sure to tie your main supporting points to the objective of your response in the conclusion. The conclusion is your final opportunity to persuade the reader.

Review:

1. Seek feedback – once you have finished writing your essay, give it to teachers, professionals, friends, family and anyone else whose opinion you value for their feedback and insights.
2. Revise... and revise again – once feedback has been received and applied to your essay/presentation, be sure to read and review your essay/presentation carefully. Be sure that your response and ideas are stated clearly, the information presented is accurate and that you eliminate any difficult phrases, grammar or mistakes in punctuation.
